

KEVIN FOX

Originally from Canada, Kevin Fox is known internationally as a workshop leader, choral director, performer, and arranger. He works regularly with ensembles in the UK and abroad, and he directs two London-based community choirs. He loves to help singers and ensembles unlock their creative music-making potential, with a focus on rhythm, interpretation, and improvisation.

Kevin toured the globe with the Grammy-winning group The Swingles for 12 years as a singer and vocal percussionist, and he has been a guest performer with various ensembles including New York Voices. As a member of London Voices he regularly sings on film and TV soundtracks. He served as Artistic Director of SING! Toronto (2022-2023) and Musical Director of the British TV show Sing: Ultimate A Cappella (2017). He remains active as an arranger and occasionally writes original choral music as well, most recently a commission for Choirs for Ecocide law.
